

Cat Grass Creatures

Cats love to munch on grass! Try growing your own green treat in the shape of a funky, one-of-a-kind recycled creature. Be kind to your cat and the planet at the same time!

Materials: single use plastics
scissors, glue, tape,
potting soil,
cat grass seeds

Directions:

1

Assemble your creature. Let your imagination run wild! Tip: Make sure the "body" can hold water without leaking (a shallow plastic container with a wide opening works well).

2

Fill the "body" with potting soil. Leave about 2 centimetres of room at the top.

3

Take a small handful of seeds and place them just below the surface of the soil. Be careful not to plant the seeds too deep. They might not sprout!

4

Place your creature in a sunny window. Water the seeds everyday until grass shoots begin to appear. Try not to over-water! Just lightly dampen the soil by misting it with a spray bottle.

5

Allow the shoots to grow a height of about 10 centimeters. Place your creature somewhere your cat can enjoy the tender greens. Yummy!

Thinking Question

Single-use plastics are everywhere in our homes. Because they are only used once and then discarded, plastic pollution is becoming a serious problem! What are some other ways that you could re-purpose items? or even replace with greener items? Why not make a reusable t-shirt tote bag to help reduce plastic waste!
