

Meet Harry

Directions: Read Harry's story and adoption profile below to learn more about him. Think about the kind of forever home that would be suitable for a rabbit like Harry. To learn more about what rabbits need, check out our Rabbit Care Guide.

Harry's Story

Harry was purchased from a pet store as an Easter gift last year. Unfortunately, his guardians were not prepared for the cost and time required to care for a rabbit. When they became bored of him, they planned to set him free in a local park!

Thankfully a responsible neighbour heard about their plans to set him free and brought Harry to the BC SPCA instead. Now he is being cared for in the shelter, hoping to hop into a forever home soon!

Adoption Profile:

- 1 year old Holland Lop
- Neutered male
- Lifespan 10-15 years
- Good with adults and children 12 or older
- Does not like to be held or picked up
- Needs space to hop and explore for most of the day
- Scared of loud noises and larger animals
- Has had a few eye infections and will need regular visits to the vet

Billions and Billions of Bunnies...

Lucky for Harry, he is neutered, which means he went to the vet and had an operation to prevent him from making babies. Otherwise, pet rabbits set free in the wild can reproduce rapidly. They are able to have up to 10 litters a year, with up to 10 kits (babies) in each litter. How many bunnies would be born after one year? Two? This adds up quickly!
